No. 428-M, dated Simla, 17th July 1891.

Memo. by the Adjutant-General in India.

The following is submitted for the information of the Government of India in the Military Department, in continuation of this office No. 375-M, dated 11th June 1891.

No. 411-M, dated Camp Manipur, 3rd July 1891.

From—The General Officer Commanding the Manipur Field Force,

To—The Adjutant-General in India.

When I had the honor of submitting, for the information of His Excellency the Commander-in-Chief, my letter (No. 59-M, dated 2nd May) reporting the occupation of Manipur, I made no references to the services rendered by the Telegraph Department and by the Postal Department, because up to that date it had not been possible for either department to get into working order.

2. I beg permission now to record that the Telegraph Department opened office at Manipur on 11th May, and that in my opinion great credit is due to Mr. H. T. Pinhey, Assistant Superintendent in charge, and to his subordinates, for the energy and resource they displayed in effecting so rapid a reconstruction of the line.

3. Up to Kairong (two marches within Manipur territory) the wire was found nearly intact, and an office was opened at that place on the 24th April, the morning after our arrival; but between Kairong and Manipur it had been almost entirely destroyed, many of the posts even having been broken down or pulled up.

4. The Postal Department was somewhat longer in perfecting its arrangements on the lines of communication; but it is now working very well, and I am glad to acknowledge the services rendered by Mr. F. P. Williams, the Superintendent in charge, and by Mr. J. W. Pilkington, the Deputy Postmaster-General, Assam.

No. 773.—Lieutenant L. G. N. Eales, East Kent Regiment, held the appointment of Assistant Superintendent of Army Signalling with the Kohima Column of the Manipur Field Force from the 18th April to the 2nd May 1891.

Captain W. D. Thomson, 1st Bengal Cavalry, who was gazetted by G. G. O. No. 340 of 1891 as Superintendent of Army Signalling to the Kohima Column of that force, eventually accompanied the Silchar Column.

No. 774.—Lieutenant C. S. Williams, Wing Officer, 43rd Gurkha (Rifle) Regiment of Bengal Infantry, to be Provost Marshal, Manipur Field Force, with effect from the 27th April 1891.

From—The Adjutant-General in India,

To—The Secretary to the Government of India, Military Department.

I have the honor, by direction of the Commander-in-Chief, to submit, for the information of the Government of India, a letter, No. 479-B, dated the 17th July 1891, in which the General Officer lately commanding the Miranzai Field Force brings to notice the services of First-Class Veterinary-Surgeon Crow and Lieutenant J. L. Parker, Royal Artillery.

2. His Excellency endorses the General Officer's favorable opinion.

No. 479-B, dated Thandiani, Abbottabad, 17th July 1891.

From—BRIGADIER-GENERAL SIR W. S. A. LOCKHART, K.C.B., C.S.I., late Commanding the Miranzai Field Force,

To—The Adjutant-General in India.

I regret to have made two omissions in my despatch dated the 8th June last on the operations of the Miranzai Field Force, and, if not too late, I shall be extremely obliged if His Excellency the Commander-in-Chief in India will permit me to rectify this now.

The omissions are:

(a) At the end of paragraph 22 should have followed—"First-Class Veterinary Surgeon W. A. Crow carried on the work of his department very satisfactorily."

- (b) In paragraph 23. and after the name of Captain F. H. J. Birch, Royal Artillery, should have followed—"Lieutenant J. L. Parker, Royal Artillery, Commanding three guns of No. 2 (Derajat) Mountain Battery."

Simla, the 21st August, 1891.

No. 1700-E.—The following Resolution and Proclamation regarding the trial of accused persons in Manipur and the regrant of the Manipur State are issued by order of the Governor-General in Council:

Extract from the Proceedings of the Government of India, Foreign Department.

Read—

Letter from MAJOR-GENERAL H. COLLETT, C.B., Commanding Manipur Field Force, No. 20, dated the 15th May 1891; letters from MAJOR H. ST. P. MAXWELL, Chief Political Officer in Manipur, No. 32, dated the 29th May, No. 37, dated the 2nd June, No. 48, dated the 14th June, No. 58, dated the 20th June, No. 67, dated the 24th June, No. 91, dated the 8th July, and No. 132, dated the 31st July 1891; also letter from MAN MOHAN GHOSE, Esq., dated the 28th July, and enclosures.

RESOLUTION.

In March last the Manipur State openly resisted by force of arms the troops of Her Majesty the Queen, Empress of India; and, while this resistance was in progress, Her Majesty's Representative and other British officers were seized and put to death. The Manipur State was thereupon occupied by a British force; and the officer commanding was instructed to place upon their trial all persons suspected of murder or abetment of murder or of having acted as leaders or instigators of revolt. In pursuance of this order the Regent, Kula Chandra Singh, and his brothers, Tikendrajit Singh and Angao Singh, and other persons, were made prisoners and placed upon their trial.

Having regard to the great importance of the question raised in these cases, His Excellency the Governor-General in Council has resolved to draw up a statement of the reasons which have led him to the conclusion that all the accused have committed heinous offences against the State, and deserve exemplary punishment.

2. It is true that these accused persons were with one exception not amenable for the acts charged against them to the municipal law of British India, and that the Courts by which they were tried derived their authority solely from the special Commission under which they were constituted. This Commission issued, as has been correctly apprehended by Mr. Man Mohan Ghose, in the exercise of the prerogative of the Government of India as the Sovereign Power, "for the purpose of bringing to justice persons accused of grave offences, but who not being British subjects were not triable by British Courts," and in consequence of the anxious desire of the Government "to secure to all persons, whether subjects or aliens, that fairness of treatment and that strict justice which a public trial, conducted according to civilised methods and principles, can alone ensure." The Court by which the Regent and his brothers were tried was composed of two of the senior Military Officers on the spot, aided by a civil officer with judicial experience as Deputy Commissioner, and the Governor-General in Council expressly reserved to himself the final determination of the sentences to be passed upon the accused in the event of their being adjudged guilty. The other accused were tried by the Chief Political Officer in Manipur, his sentences being subject to confirmation by the General Officer Commanding the Manipur Field Force. The Government of India called for a report on each case.

3. The Regent, Kula Chandra Singh, was convicted of waging war against the Queen, and was sentenced to death.

Tikendrajit Singh, the Senapati, was convicted both of waging war against the Queen and of abetting the murder of the Chief Commissioner of Assam and other officers, and was sentenced to death.

Angao Singh was convicted of waging war against the Queen and of abetting the murder of the Chief Commissioner and other officers, and was also sentenced to death.

These sentences were submitted to the Government of India for confirmation.

The following were the persons tried by the Chief Political Officer:—

Tongal Singh alias Tongal General.
 Kajao Manipuri.
 Niranjana, Subadar.
 Samu Singh alias Luang Ningthao, Colonel.

Kajao Manipuri was convicted of the murder of Mr. Grimwood, and was sentenced to death.

Samu Singh, Colonel, and Aiya Parel, Major, were convicted of waging war against the Queen and of abetment of murder, and were sentenced to death.

Miya Singh, Major, and Niranjana, Subadar, a British subject and an ex-sepoy of Her Majesty's Native Army, were convicted of waging war against the Queen, and were sentenced to death.

Lokendra Birjit Singh alias Wangkhailakpa was convicted of waging war against the Queen, and was sentenced to transportation for life.

Uroo Singh Usurba, Abungjao Yonkorba, Chowbi Hider Machahal, Ghun Singh Kangdra, Kumba Singh Laisraba, Dhojo Singh Myenba, Noni Singh Nepra Machahal, Trilok Singh Nongtholba Sutwal, and Dhon Singh Sugol Senba were convicted of the murder of the Chief Commissioner and other officers, and were sentenced to death.

4. After being sentenced to death, two of the accused, namely, the Regent, Kula Chandra Singh, and the Senapati, Tikendrajit, asked and received permission to submit petitions to the Governor-General in Council under legal advice, and the Government of India also agreed to receive from their legal adviser a statement of arguments in their defence. These petitions and arguments, together with the records of the various trials mentioned above, have now been before the Governor-General in Council.

5. It has been urged on behalf of the Regent and the Senapati that they had no opportunity of being defended by Counsel. This is an error. Special instructions were given by the Government of India that they should have all reasonable opportunity in this respect, but no application was made by them for professional assistance before their trials began. Since then ample time has been allowed them to represent their case by Counsel, and the papers prepared by Mr. Man Mohan Ghose have brought before the Government of India everything that can be urged in their defence.

6. Mr. Man Mohan Ghose, as Counsel for the accused, has complained that the language of the written statement of defence put in on behalf of the Senapati has been revised and altered by a British officer since it was signed by him, and has commented upon the inquisitorial character of his oral examination.

The revision of the statement, if it took place as described, was certainly irregular, but the Government of India were careful to understand the passages which are said to have been altered in the sense which they were intended to convey, and Tikendrajit Singh has in no way suffered by the alleged alterations. As regards the oral examination, His Excellency in Council observes that the law of British India not only permits, but requires, that an accused person shall be questioned "for the purpose of enabling him to explain any circumstances appearing against him." The questions were scrupulously recorded, and most of them put before the accused some fact which was either proved or generally known in Manipur, and which, if not explained, might have borne hardly against him. The case against the Senapati, however, in no way depends on anything extracted from himself.

7. It has been urged by the Counsel for the accused that the State of Manipur was independent, and that its rulers were not liable to be tried for waging war against the Queen-Empress, and it is contended that they were justified in repelling an attack made upon the Senapati's house "without even a declaration of war by the British Government."

The Governor-General in Council cannot admit this argument. The degree of subordination in which the Manipur State stood towards the Indian Empire has been more than once explained in connection with these cases; and it must be taken to be proved conclusively that Manipur was a subordinate and protected State which owed submission to the Paramount Power, and that its forcible resistance to a lawful order, whether it be called waging war, treason, rebellion, or by any other name, is an offence, the commission of which justifies the exaction of adequate penalties from individuals concerned in such resistance as well as from the State as a whole. The principles of international law have no bearing upon the relations between the Government of India as representing the Queen-Empress on the one hand, and the Native States under the suzerainty of Her Majesty on the other. The paramount supremacy of the former presupposes and implies the subordination of the latter. In the exercise of their high prerogative, the Government of India have, in Manipur as in other protected States, the unquestioned right to remove by administrative order any person whose presence in the State may seem objectionable. They also had the right to summon a Darbar through their Political representative for the purpose of declaring their decision upon matters connected with the expulsion of the ex-Maharaja, and if their order for the deportation of the Senapati were not obeyed, it was their officer's duty to take proper steps for his forcible apprehension. In the opinion of the Governor-General in Council any armed and violent resistance to such arrest was an act of rebellion, and can no more be justified by a plea of self-defence than could resistance to a police officer armed with a Magistrate's warrant in British India.

8. The Governor-General in Council holds, therefore, that the accused persons were liable to be tried for waging war against the Queen; that they had full opportunity of being represented by Counsel; and that their trial was not prejudiced by any irregularity of procedure.

9. It remains to state the conclusions formed by the Governor-General in Council as to the propriety of the several convictions upon the evidence adduced.

10. The Regent, Kula Chandra Singh, has been convicted of what is in fact rebellion, though acquitted of any complicity in the murders. He was the recognized ruler of Manipur when the occurrences in question took place. He had been the Jubraj or heir-apparent, and, whatever may have been the Maharaja's secret intentions, the evidence clearly shows that His Highness went through a process which was understood by every body to signify abdication, giving up his sword of State and robes which were made over to the accused. Thereupon the accused undertook the management of the State. He assumed the title and authority of Maharaja, and with the title and authority he undertook the responsibilities of the head of the State. All that can be said in his favour is that in practice he subordinated himself to a younger brother possessing greater force of character than himself. He acquiesced in the decision to resist, and, though he left it to others to carry that decision into effect, he allowed them to act under the authority of his name. Further, he accepted the consequences of their acts, and tried to screen them by making false statements to the Government of India.

He was therefore rightly convicted; but nevertheless, in view of the fact that he was a man of weak character and notoriously under the influence of his brother Tikendrajit Singh, His Excellency has determined to commute the sentence into one of transportation, accompanied by forfeiture of private property.

11. The Senapati, Tikendrajit Singh, was the real leader of the revolt, and undoubtedly the most powerful personage in the State. It is not denied that he led the Manipuri troops against those of Her Majesty the Queen-Empress, and used artillery at close quarters against an unfortified building, the official residence of the Representative of the Indian Government, having amongst its inmates an English lady as well as several wounded men. He also appears to admit the truth of the following facts, which have been established by the evidence, with regard to the murder. The Chief Commissioner and those with him were received into the fort for a parley. The Senapati met them and peremptorily insisted that the British troops should surrender their arms. This demand not being acceded to, the Senapati left without taking any precautions for the safe return of the Chief Commissioner and those with him, although they were surrounded by a dangerous and excited crowd. He did, however, on being appealed to by the witness Angao Mingto, give him permission to escort them to the Residency if he were able to do so; and when they were attacked, and Mr. Grimwood had been speared, he returned, drove back the mob, and had them placed in the Darbar Hall. He then betook himself to the parapet of the fort, and was found there half an hour later by the witnesses Usurba and Jatra Singh, who told him that the Tongal General had ordered that the officers should be put to death. He replied that he would come and speak to the General, and, after making a circuit of the parapet, he returned to the top-guard, where he had a conversation with the Tongal General on the question whether the officers should or should not be put to death. Within half an hour a distinct order for the officers' execution was given by the Tongal General, standing in the same room where the Senapati was lying down; and thereupon the subordinates who had refused to act on the Tongal General's own order sent for the State executioners and had the officers beheaded.

The Senapati's defence is that he opposed the Tongal General's proposal, and that, being ill and exhausted, and believing the Tongal General was convinced by his arguments, he fell asleep and was only awakened after the murder by the sudden resumption of firing. A careful examination of the evidence, however, shows that the alleged illness did not prevent the Senapati from doing anything which he had a mind to do; while, as regards the resumption of firing, it is proved beyond all reasonable doubt that the Senapati had himself resumed it, and brought a cannon to bear upon the Residency before he held his consultation with the Tongal General. At this time he knew the officers were in his power in the Darbar Hall. It is in evidence that one of them had written a note showing that they regarded themselves as treacherously entrapped, and it is also established that before fire was re-opened under the Senapati's directions, some one had called out from the parapet where he was engaged that the Chief Commissioner would not return.

The Government of India are unable to believe that the Tongal General would have ventured to order the execution of high British officials against the wishes of the Senapati, and they are satisfied upon the whole evidence that the order was really and in truth what the subordinates considered it to be, viz., the joint order of the Tongal General and the Senapati himself.

The Government of India were, therefore, convinced that he was rightly convicted on both counts of the charge. The sentence in his case has therefore been confirmed and carried into execution.

12. The third case is that of Angao Singh, who seems to have assumed the title of Senapati. On his own admission he was in command at Thobal; it appears also that he took charge of the west gate at Manipur on the night of the 24th March. Though there is no evidence that he gave any specific order, he was acting throughout as a leader, if not as the Commander-in-Chief, of the forces resisting the representative of the Supreme Government, and there can be no doubt that he waged war against the Queen. It is not to be supposed that the whole truth has been told as to what happened on that eventful night, but there is no evidence from which it can be safely concluded that he abetted the murder of the officers. The Government of India have therefore determined that his conviction on this count cannot be upheld, and the capital penalty will not be inflicted. He has been sentenced to transportation, with forfeiture of property.

13. The cases of the other accused persons presented no difficulties.

The evidence against Tongal Singh was such as to leave no doubt whatever that he ordered the execution of the officers, and has been rightly convicted. The sentence in his case was, therefore, carried into execution.

Kajao Manipuri admitted that he murdered Mr. Grimwood; and Niranjan, Subadar, a British subject, and formerly a soldier in the British army, was clearly shown to have participated in armed opposition to Her Majesty's troops. In both these cases the sentences of death were carried into execution.

In the cases of Samu Singh and Nilmoni Singh, who were leading men in Manipur, the Government of India did not uphold the conviction on the charge of abetment of murder, but the charge of waging war against the Queen was clearly established. Nevertheless, having regard to the fact that they were acting under orders, the Governor-General in Council commuted the sentences of death to sentences of transportation and forfeiture of property.

The accused Miya Singh and Lokendra Birjit, also leading men in Manipur, admitted that they had taken an active part in the armed resistance offered to Her Majesty's troops. In their case also, as they had acted under orders, sentences of transportation with forfeiture of property were considered sufficient.

In the cases of Uru Singh Usurba, Abungjao Yonkorba, Chowbi Hider Machahal, Ghun Singh Kangdra, Kumba Singh Laisraba, Dhojo Singh Myenba, Noni Singh Nepra Machahal, Trilok Singh Nongtholba Sutwal, and Dhon Singh Sugol Senba, it was clear that the accused, though on their own statements guilty of murder, were persons in subordinate positions, and acted under the orders of others. They were, therefore, sentenced to transportation.

PROCLAMATION.

Whereas the State of Manipur has recently been in armed rebellion against the authority of Her Majesty the Queen, Empress of India; and whereas, during such rebellion, Her Majesty's Representative and other officers were murdered at Imphal on the 24th of March last: and whereas by a Proclamation bearing date the 19th April 1891 the authority of the Regent, Kula Chandra Singh, was declared to be at an end, and the administration of the State was assumed by the General Officer Commanding Her Majesty's forces in Manipur territory:

It is hereby notified that the Manipur State has become liable to the penalty of annexation, and is now at the disposal of the Crown:

It is further notified that Her Majesty the Queen, Empress of India, has been pleased to forego Her right to annex to Her Indian Dominions the territories of the Manipur State; and has graciously assented to the re-establishment of Native rule under such conditions as the Governor-General in Council may consider desirable, and in the person of such ruler as the Governor-General in Council may select.

Her Majesty has been moved to this act of clemency by the belief that the punishment inflicted upon the leaders of the revolt, together with the imposition upon the State of suitable conditions of regrant, will afford an adequate vindication of Her authority.

The Governor-General in Council will make known hereafter the name of the person selected to rule the State, and the conditions under which he will be invested with power.

H. M. DURAND,

Secretary to the Government of India.

FOREIGN DEPARTMENT.

NOTIFICATION.

Simla, the 21st August, 1891.

No. 1701-E.—The following telegrams and despatch connected with the late outbreak in Manipur, which have been published by Her Majesty's Secretary of State for India, are reprinted for general information :

Telegram, dated the 28th May, 1891.

From—The Viceroy, Simla,
To—The Secretary of State, London.

Manipur punishments. It is essential to the security of our position in India that the subjects of Native States should understand that the murder of British officers renders the murderers and their abettors liable to punishment of death whatever orders they may have received from the authorities of the State concerned. It has been clearly laid down that no Native State has capital jurisdiction over European British subjects. I regard maintenance of this principle as of the utmost importance, but, where a murder has been committed under compulsion, sufficient weight should be given to this fact.

Telegram, dated the 3rd June, 1891.

From—The Secretary of State, London,
To—The Viceroy, Simla.

Your Lordship's telegram of 28th May, Manipur punishment. I agree.

Telegram No. 27 N.-E., dated the 5th June, 1891.

From—The Viceroy, Simla,
To—The Secretary of State, London.

Manipur.—We wish to draw special attention to the following points :

First.—It is the right and duty of the British Government to settle successions in subordinate Native States. Every succession must be recognised by the British Government, and no succession is valid until recognition has been given. This principle is fully understood and invariably observed.

Second.—Manipur is a subordinate Native State. We rendered it independent of Burma. We have recognised successions in Manipur, and have asserted suzerainty in many ways ; and Manipur ruling family have repeatedly acknowledged their position of dependence. For example, in 1874 Maharaja presented nagar to Viceroy and received khilat. Again ex-Maharaja now in Calcutta was recognised as future successor by us during his father's lifetime at his father's request ; and similarly, at ex-Maharaja's request, we recognised as his successor present Jubraj. Ex-Maharaja and even Regent and Senapati since revolt have all admitted dependent position of State (see

1. Extract of a letter from the Officiating Secretary to the Government of India, Foreign Department, to the Chief Commissioner of the Central Provinces,—No. 197-L., dated Port William, the 15th January, 1884.

I am to say that the Governor-General in Council agrees with you that the formal investiture of a Chief should, if possible, be performed by a British officer. Such a course may not always be practicable ; but I am to observe that the succession to a Native State is invalid until it receives in some form the sanction of the British authorities. Consequently an ad interim and unauthorised ceremony carried out by the people of a State, such as that which occurred in the present instance, cannot be recognised, though the wishes of the ruling family and the leading persons in a State would naturally in all cases receive full consideration.

2. Extract of a letter from Her Majesty's Secretary of State for India, to the Government of India,—No. 19 (Political), dated India Office, London, the 13th March, 1884.

I have to acknowledge the receipt of Political letter of Your Excellency's Government, No. 16, dated 5th February 1884, with enclosures (one of these being the letter from which the extract above is taken).

Your proceedings in this matter are approved.

3. Extract from paragraph 7 of a letter from His HIGHNESS SUR CHANDRA SINGH, Maharaja of Manipur, to the Chief Commissioner of Assam,—dated the 14th November, 1890.

I also considered that I was ruling my State under the protection of the British Government, whose representative, the Political Agent, always resided at my capital, and the Government had made a public avowal of their determination to uphold my father's authority and punish those who would attempt to dispossess him ; that I had the right to expect that a similar course would be followed in my case, and that this policy would never be departed from or its benefits denied to me when occasion arose ; that any attempt at disturbance which would be a clear defiance of the authority of the Indian Government would be, therefore, at once put down with a strong hand, as had been done even during my time twice—once when Bara Chauba rose against me, and again when Jugendra Singh did so.

4. Extract from a letter from KULA DRUJA SINGH, Regent of Manipur, to His Excellency the Viceroy,—dated the 25th March, 1891.

Hitherto the British Government has been protecting this petty State of Manipur in a friendly manner. I cannot understand why, in spite of repeated remonstrances on the present occasion, the Chief Commissioner broke that friendly relation and acted with such injustice and cruelty. I cannot believe that he acted so unjustly under the guidance of the Honourable Governor-General.

5. Extract from paragraph 6 of a letter from BABU RASSICK LALL KUNDU, Head Clerk, Manipur Political Agency, to the Secretary to the Chief Commissioner of Assam,—No. 1, dated the 4th April, 1891.

He states that he was always submissive to the paramount power, and is yet willing to surrender if the Government be graciously pleased to grant a kind hearing of his long felt grievances, and instead of awarding punishment would allow favourable consideration on his valour which a valiant nation is naturally inclined to adore and esteem. He further states that as a Khatri by birth, the offspring of the famous family of Babrubahun, he has only done the duty of his fighting race in self-defence; and yet in case the Government deem it expedient to ruin him, he is least afraid of his mortal life, but it would add discredit on the Government of such superior strength to ruin a feudatory State of much inferior position.

6. Extract from statement of BABU RASSICK LALL KUNDU, Head Clerk, Manipur Political Agency,—dated the 12th May, 1891.

On the 4th April 1891, I wrote a letter to the Secretary to the Chief Commissioner of Assam, and the Senapati dictated that portion of paragraph 6 relating to him.

Appendix to paragraph 3.

7. Extract from Aitchison's Treaties, Vol. I, page 248.

In consequence of repeated attempts to upset the authority of Chandra Kirti Singh, whereby the peace of the country was disturbed and British influence endangered, Government made a public avowal of its determination to uphold Chandra Kirti Singh, and to punish any parties attempting to dispossess him.

8. Extract from a demi-official letter from the Hon'ble Mr. J. W. QUINTON, C.S.I., to W. J. CUNNINGHAM, Esq., Officiating Secretary to the Government of India, Foreign Department,—dated the 19th February, 1891.

Several attempts previous to that which gave rise to this correspondence have been made to upset the Maharaja's rule since his accession—two of Bara Chauba in 1886, which were finally suppressed only by the employment of the Cachar Frontier Police under a British officer (see paragraph 3, General Summary of Administration Report for 1886-87). These were followed by two attempts in 1887—one, three months after the Maharaja's accession, headed by the Wang Khairakpa, who was shot through the head while making a rush at the Maharaja's private residence; the other of Jogendra Singh, heading a party of exiles from Manipur, which also called for the employment of Military Police from Cachar and British troops from Manipur.

9. Extract from a letter from the Secretary to the Chief Commissioner of Assam, to the Secretary to the Government of India, Foreign Department—No. 5210-P, dated Shillong, the 31st December, 1890.

It must, moreover, be remembered that the present occurrences are not the result of a revolution in which the people of the State have any interest, of foreign aggression, or of any ascendancy gained by rival Chiefs, but are merely the outcome of a family quarrel between the brothers of a nominal ruler.

10. Extract from a letter from F. St. C. GRIMWOOD, Esq., Political Agent, Manipur, to the Secretary to the Chief Commissioner of Assam, No. 351-C, dated the 1st December, 1890.

The Maharaja was not unpopular, and naturally he has some adherents; but the people were not very enthusiastic about him, and they cordially disliked the Pucca Sena.

ex-Maharaja's letter, 14th November, paragraph 7; Regent's letter, 25th March, last paragraph but one; Rassick Lall Kundu's letter, 4th April, end of paragraph 6). He now states that portion of letter referring to Senapati was dictated by Senapati himself.

Third.—It is our right and duty to uphold Native Chiefs recognised by us, except in case of gross misrule, and to punish unlawful revolt against their authority. We have accordingly more than once upheld Manipur Chiefs by force, and punished rebels against their authority (see Aitchison's Treaties, Vol. I, page 248, and recent cases of Bara Chauba and Jogendra Singh referred to in Maharaja's letter of 14th November).

Fourth.—The rising against Maharaja in September 1890 was unlawful revolt, and we should have been justified in putting it down by force and punishing rebels. But for Maharaja's abdication, which was somewhat hastily accepted by Grimwood without reference to us, we should probably have done so. Chief Commissioner offered Grimwood armed assistance from Kohima (see Quinton's telegrams to Cunningham, 22nd and 24th September 1890, and Grimwood's letter 25th September, paragraphs 10 to 14, and Cunningham's letter to Quinton of 24th January, paragraph 6).

11. Telegram, dated the 22nd September, 1890.

From—The Chief Commissioner of Assam, Silchar,
To—The Foreign Secretary, Simla.

Following telegrams received this morning from Manipur Political Agent :—“ 22nd, No. 4.—Maharaja's brothers attacked Palace during night. Maharaja fled to Residency. Shall defend him as long as possible if attacked; 22nd, No. 5.—Senapati and two brothers in possession of Palace. Jubraj and three brothers with Maharaja at Residency; only 65 rifles besides escort. I have instructed how to act. Do not anticipate attack on Residency at present, but Maharaja and brothers are preparing to attack Senapati if they can collect men. No loss of life as Maharaja fled.” Chief Commissioner has sent the following reply, having arranged with the General Officer Commanding now here to move a detachment from Kohima if necessary :—“ Your telegrams of today. Protect the Residency. Endeavour to mediate between the parties, and, if necessary, wire for troops to Kohima. Commanding Officer has been authorized to send you 200 rifles. Defend yourself, but do not assume the offensive without informing me of the reasons on which you recommend it, and obtaining orders.”

12. Telegram, dated the 24th September, 1890.

From—The Chief Commissioner of Assam, Badarpur,
To—The Foreign Secretary, Simla.

Your 1994-E of 22nd. Political Agent wires :—Begins : “ Maharajah has formally abdicated in favour of Jubraj, and goes to Brindaban as a fakir. This is his own wish. I told him I could guarantee his personal safety at Residency, but refused to allow him to collect armed men in Residency ground; also told him, if once abdicated, he could not return to Manipur or Cachar; but he persists in his resolve. The Senapati agrees to supply Maharaja with all necessaries for journey. This seems to me best solution. Jubraj has held aloof from both sides, and could therefore be acknowledged Maharaja if you approve. Maharaja leaves to-night. Am sending escort 41 rifles; also insisting on Pucca Sena going too. He is the primary cause of all the trouble.”—Ends. I have replied as follows :—Begins : “ Yours of yesterday. Jubraj may be acknowledged as Regent till sanction of Government is received. Send full report of all the circumstances, and wire if Maharaja and Pucca Sena have gone.”—Ends.

13. Extract paragraphs 10 to 14 from a letter from the Political Agent in Manipur, to the Secretary to the Chief Commissioner of Assam,—No. 288, dated the 25th September, 1890.

10. On the next morning (Tuesday) the Maharaja told me he had fully made up his mind to leave the country and go on a pilgrimage and settle at Brindaban. He begged that I would arrange this, and entreated he should not be sent to Hazeribagh thinking no doubt of the Bara Chaubaj. I told him I would arrange it to be so if he had really made up his mind, but he must understand he could never return to Manipur, Cachar, or Sylhet, and I also said that the Pucca Sena must go with him, but that the others might stay or not as they liked.

11. The Maharaja then wrote a letter to the Senapati to tell him his determination to leave and resign the gadi to the Jubraj; and when I went to the Palace the Senapati and his brothers were evidently very pleased at the Maharaja's resolution, and the former promised to make all the arrangements for the journey of the Maharajah and his brothers to Cachar in a proper manner, and that those who chose to stay in Manipur would not be molested. He also said he would send for the Jubraj, who, it appears, was about 8 miles away of the Cachar road. The Jubraj arrived 2 or 3 hours after, and at once proclaimed himself Maharaja.

12. As soon as the Maharaja's intention of leaving the country was known, numbers of Manipuris flocked to the Residency to see him, most of them bringing various sums of money to present to him. To judge from the way the people wept, one would say the Maharaja was popular and every one seemed sorry at his departure.

14. The Maharaja and his brothers left in the evening at about 7.30 P.M. I sent an escort of 35 rifles of the 44th Gurkha Light Infantry to accompany them to Cachar. It was best for several reasons for the Maharaja to leave at once. It was very awkward his being at the Residency; he would eat nothing here, and he seemed afraid to go into any of the Manipuri houses near by; he was even alarmed at my leaving the house for a short time, and begged I would not do so. His staying here also entailed heavy duty on the men of my escort, and besides there was always the chance that something might happen, and the minds of the people would be disturbed till he left. I accordingly decided to take the responsibility without waiting for orders, and did not object to his leaving; and in this way was ended one more change of rulers in Manipur which have so frequently occurred in the previous history of the country. This time fortunately there has been no bloodshed.

14. Extract paragraph 6 from a letter from W. J. CUNINGHAM, Esq., Officiating Secretary to the Government of India, Foreign Department, to the Chief Commissioner of Assam,—No. 203-E., dated the 25th January, 1891.

6. At the same time, when Mr. Grimwood received your telegram directing him to mediate and assuring him of military assistance from Kohima, the proper course for him to pursue was to have gone to the Senapati at the Palace, to have ascertained the reason of the disturbances, and to have communicated with you. It would then in all probability have become apparent before the Political Agent had committed himself to assenting to the Maharaja's flight, and thereby admitted the success of the Senapati's revolt, that the Maharaja was entirely in our hands, and that the Senapati, a declared traitor in open mutiny, could have been dealt with by us according as circumstances demanded.

15. Extract from a letter from the Secretary to the Chief Commissioner of Assam, to the Secretary to the Government of India, Foreign Department,—No. 5210-P., dated Shillong, the 31st December, 1890.

Having thus abdicated and left the country, the Maharaja changed his mind, and wishes now to repudiate his previous action and resume his position as ruler of the State. This course cannot, in the Chief Commissioner's opinion, be adopted, unless the Government of India is prepared to support the Maharaja on the gadi with British troops.

16. Extracts from a demi-official letter from the Hon'ble Mr. J. W. QUINTON, C.S.I., to W. J. CUNINGHAM, Esq., Officiating Secretary to the Government of India, Foreign Department,—dated the 9th February, 1891.

The restoration of the Maharaja.—I am still doubtful whether the principles of justice call for this step, and I am certain that it would not be for the benefit of good government in Manipur.

Again, there is nothing in the character or previous conduct of the Maharaja which warrants the conclusion that his restoration would be for the benefit of good government in Manipur.

I am making arrangements for a visit to Manipur next month in view of the Government of India determining that the question of the return of the Maharaja should be re-opened; but, if I am right in supposing that the point is one on which I am asked for an opinion, I would strongly advise against it.

17. Extract from a demi-official letter from the Hon'ble Mr. J. W. QUINTON, C.S.I., to W. J. CUNINGHAM, Esq.,—dated the 19th February, 1891.

As regards the first of these two points, I stated in my letter of the 9th of February the reasons against the restoration based on the weakness of the Maharaja's character as shown by his conduct since his accession.

Constant interference will be no less necessary in the internal affairs of the country; the weakness of the Maharaja, already dwelt upon, will leave him a ready tool in the hands of the people round him who have no direct responsibility for the consequences of their advice, and the Political Agent cannot allow abuses of authority, which at present might be held not to give grounds for interference, to be indulged in by a ruler set up and maintained by ourselves. Under the circumstances described, I do not think that good administration can be secured without constant interference.

Fifth.—When Maharaja wished to recall abdication, we were disposed to restore him and re-assert his authority. We gave way on this point to objections earnestly pressed by Quinton both in letters and in personal communication with the Viceroy and Council. Grimwood also was opposed to Maharaja's restoration (see Quinton's letters to Cuningham, 9th and 19th February 1891, and Grimwood's letter, 4th December, paragraph 26).

18. Extract paragraph 26 from a letter from F. St. C. GRIMWOOD, Esq., Political Agent, Manipur, to the Secretary to the Chief Commissioner of Assam,—No. 351-C., dated the 4th December, 1890.

26. If the Maharaja returns to Manipur, in my opinion he has no chance of regaining his throne unless brought back by British troops. I would certainly not advise the return of the Maharaja, but, if he does come back, he should be accompanied by a force of our troops sufficient to overawe all opposition; but even then, I believe, the Jubraj and Senapati would fight in preference to being sent into exile in India, which would be necessary, as after late events the eight brothers could never live peaceably here again altogether.

19. Extract from a letter from COLONEL SIR JAMES JOHNSTONE, K.C.S.I., to COLONEL J. C. ARDAGH, C.B., K.E.,—dated the 13th November, 1890.

I have heard nothing of the revolution but the meagre details given in the Times telegrams, but I never doubted that Koirang, the late Maharaja's fourth son, a man of infamous character, was the instigator of it. I never also doubted that Sur Chandra would again try for the throne. I take it that he was frightened into leaving, and now intends claiming the promise to support him.

20. Extracts from a letter from F. St. C. GRIMWOOD, Esq., Political Agent in Manipur, to the Secretary to the Chief Commissioner of Assam,—dated the 25th September, 1890.

4. As soon as it was daylight, I learnt that the Senapati, the Dolarai Hanjaba, and the Zillah Singh, the fifth and seventh brothers of the Maharaja, were in the Palace, and in the possession of the four mountain guns and the magazine. The Jubraj had left his house and gone down the Cachar road. Of the Ministers who have seats in Darbar, only one was with Senapati, vis., the Aiya Parel. The others, including the Tongal General and his sons, all came to the Residency.

11. The Maharaja then wrote a letter to the Senapati to tell him his determination to leave and resign the gadi to the Jubraj; and when I went to the Palace the Senapati and his brothers were evidently very pleased at the Maharaja's resolution, and the former promised to make all the arrangements for the journey of the Maharaja and his brothers to Cachar in a proper manner, and that those who chose to stay in Manipur would not be molested. He also said he would send for the Jubraj, who, it appears, was about 8 miles away on the Cachar road. The Jubraj arrived 2 or 3 hours after, and at once proclaimed himself Maharaja.

19. This seems to have satisfied the Maharaja, and he certainly had no suspicion of any outbreak being probable. But the Dolarai Hanjaba and Zillah Singh say they were afraid that they would be punished by being banished or in some other way, so the Zillah Singh took the initiative by attacking the inner enclosure of the Palace in which the Maharaja lives. To this he gained access by climbing over the wall with ladders; and the shots fired, though they hit nobody, so frightened the Maharaja that he fled precipitately. The Senapati then arrived and took possession of everything, and proceeded to strengthen the Palace defences against any attempt to retake it.

21. Extract from a letter from F. St. C. GRIMWOOD, Esq., C.S., Political Agent in Manipur, to the Secretary to the Chief Commissioner of Assam,—No. 351-C., dated the 4th December, 1890.

The magazine is a good defensible post, on the south side of the Palace, and if that and the ammunition in it had been seized and held at once, then at daybreak my escort could probably have retaken the Palace without much difficulty; but it would have been madness to have sent 85 Gurkhas to attack the Palace when the Senapati and his brothers had possession of all the guns and ammunition.

14. I suggested that the Maharaja should retire to Kohima, as I knew our troops would come from there, and he could have met them; but I certainly never said there was personal danger to the Maharaja. I did not think it likely the Senapati would attack the Residency, and I repeatedly told the Maharaja he was quite safe at the Residency. The Maharaja appears in his letter to assume that because I refused to take the offensive with troops (85 rifles) at my disposal, I also declined to protect him. But this is quite wrong.

Sixth.—Nevertheless we could not permit a revolt against a Chief recognised by us to remain wholly successful and unpunished and virtual authority in Manipur to pass into hands of Senapati, who, as lately described by Johnstone in a letter, is "a man of infamous character," and who was notoriously turbulent and the real leader of the revolution of September 1890. See paragraphs 4, 11, and 19 of Grimwood's letter of 25th September, and paragraphs 5, 14, 17, 19 and 27 of his letter of 4th December; also correspondence of 1881 and 1888 as to Senapati's antecedents and occasions on which he incurred the displeasure of Government.

Under these circumstances we decided that Senapati should be removed from the State, and Quinton, while at Calcutta, did not question propriety of this decision.

17. My own feeling was that such a course would be more honorable, and I thought that I should be able to make the Senapati agree to such terms. I am sure the Maharaja did not misunderstand me, and the three Ministers got up and solemnly shook hands with me. They were entirely of my opinion, but the Maharaja said "No." He was determined to become a pilgrim. In the end I told him not to decide till next morning, the 23rd; but then he was of the same opinion, and not only sent the letter to the Senapati, a copy of which was given me by the Darbar, and which is annexed to this letter, but he also sent his State sword and State coat he was wearing.

27. I annex a copy of the letter asked for in paragraph 3 of your letter, and I also return the original representation sent with your letter.

Translation of a letter from SUR CHANDRA SINGH, Maharaja of Manipur, writing to HIS EXCELLENCY THE SENAPATI, dated 13th, Bhadra Sukla, 9th, Tuesday.

I have much to inform my younger brother, the Senapati. I have no hope of fighting against you, and I have already told you before that I intended to go once to Brindaban, but I am unable to cross the hills on foot and go to Brindaban. Therefore, my brother, be kind and arrange for your elder brother's (i.e., my) journey to Brindaban, and you must, for our father, the late Maharaja's sake, forgive the Sagol Hanjaba (i.e., Pucca Sena), who has sinned much against you, and I wish to hear from you that you will do this.

4. As I have already in my letter above cited informed you, the Governor-General in Council considers that it will be desirable that the Senapati should be removed from Manipur and punished for his lawless conduct. I am to enquire where you would recommend that he should be interned, and what steps you consider necessary for carrying out his removal without affording him the chance, which his position as head of the Manipur forces might possibly give him, of making any forcible opposition.

23. Telegram No. 252-M., dated the 8th May, 1891.

From—The Secretary to the Chief Commissioner of Assam, Shillong,

To—The Foreign Secretary, Simla.

Your telegram 905-E. of 6th May. Following, dated 7th, received from Gurdon:—Begins: "Your 250-M. Arrangement was orders of India were to be announced at Darbar, and Senapati was to be told to surrender. If he refused, Colonel Skene was to arrest him at Darbar. Troops were kept in readiness round Residency where Darbar was held in case of resistance. Made following communication to Grimwood before-hand:—First, informed him of intention to deport Senapati. Asked him best way to arrest him without affording him an opportunity of forcibly resisting. Grimwood's reply was Senapati personally would resist to the utmost. Grimwood could suggest no means of arresting Senapati as described. Grimwood never mentioned extent of Senapati's followers in Palace or general rising likely; second, asked Grimwood whether he could bring pressure to bear on Regent to arrest Senapati. Grimwood's answer—'No.' Other communications less important. Colonel Skene

Seventh.—We did not indicate to Quinton method in which deportation was to be effected. We asked him what steps he considered necessary for carrying out removal without affording Senapati the chance of making forcible resistance. No instructions other than those contained in letter No. 360 of 21st February were given to Quinton on this point either by letter or by word of mouth.

Eighth.—Quinton did not immediately consult Grimwood on subject doubtless for reasons given in demi-official letter to Cuninghame of 22nd February. Following is extract from this letter:—Begins: "It is of importance that the decision of the Government of India which I am going to Manipur to announce and enforce should not be divulged prematurely, and it is scarcely possible to guard against its leaking out if I use the telegraph at Manipur or even write: so many persons are interested in knowing what is about to happen. The Political Agent has no cypher code."—Ends. No doubt Darbar would have tried hard to get message or letter from Telegraph or Post Office, and might have succeeded. Some of the Agency establishment are suspected of having been in the habit of supplying information to Darbar, and Quinton must have known this. These facts explain alleged studious concealment from Grimwood of Quinton's intentions.

Ninth.—Quinton's desire to consult Grimwood as far as circumstances permitted is shown by Gurdon's special mission to Manipur a week in advance of Quinton. On that occasion Gurdon gave Grimwood clear information of intended removal of Senapati, and consulted him as to the method of arrest. Grimwood could suggest no way for effecting arrest without affording Senapati opportunity of making forcible resistance. Gurdon's Italian telegram to Quinton reporting on situation was seen and approved by Grimwood (see Gurdon's telegram, 7th May, and his report forwarded with our despatch No. 81 of 26th May).

was told in Golaghat on 6th March objects of expedition. Have not seen Englishman of 4th yet."—Ends.

24. Extract from a report by LIEUTENANT P. R. GURDON, B.S.C., without date, received by the Secretary to the Chief Commissioner of Assam on the 16th May, 1891.

The discussion between us then came to an end, and I wrote out a telegram to the Chief Commissioner, which contained the following information, and which represented the Political Agent's final opinion:—

- (1) The Senapati might be deported if he was granted an assurance that he would be allowed to return to Manipur eventually.
- (2) It was not necessary to deport the Princes Dularai Hanjaba and Zilla Singh.
- (3) The Pucca Sena and the other Princes of the ex-Maharaja's party should on no account be allowed to return to Manipur.

Mr. Grimwood saw and approved of this telegram.

25. Telegram, dated the 18th March, 1891.

From—The Chief Commissioner of Assam, Camp Kairong,
To—The Foreign Secretary, Calcutta.

Your No. 360-E. of the 21st ultimo. Expect to reach Manipur on Sunday with the escort described in my demi-official letter of the 22nd idem. Have communicated with the Political Agent through Lieutenant Gurdon, whom I sent on in advance. Your paragraph 4. I propose requiring Regent and the Darbar to meet me on arrival; announce decision of Government; arrest Senapati, and inform him that length of his exile and return depend on his conduct and the tranquillity of the country; and order the Maharaja to place a gun with the escort during my stay. To prevent any disturbance, the Senapati comes with me on the 25th. Officer Commanding concurs in this. India, not Assam, should be the place of his detention, the cost of which will be Rs. 50. Paragraph 7. Conditions:—Site three hundred troops and acceptance by the Maharaja of the advice of the Political Agent. Paragraph 8. Maharaja's residence Brindaban and allowance Rs. 100. Pucca Sena must not return to Manipur, and his detention will cost Rs. 40. The younger brothers may remain in Manipur. If no reply reaches me by Saturday, I will act as above.

26. Extract from a report by LIEUTENANT P. R. GURDON, B.S.C., without date, received by the Secretary to the Chief Commissioner of Assam on the 16th May, 1891.

I suggested that the Chief Commissioner should send for Mr. Grimwood, and then the Chief Commissioner could hear himself what he had to say. This Mr. Quinton did, and on the 21st Mr. Grimwood joined us at Sengmai. Immediately he arrived he had a long private interview with the Chief Commissioner. What transpired I cannot say, but I presume the Chief Commissioner explained the whole situation. When this interview was over, there was a consultation between Mr. Quinton, Colonel Skene, Mr. Grimwood, and Mr. Cossins (Assistant Secretary). At this consultation I was not present. After it had gone on for about half an hour, I saw Mr. Grimwood leave and walk some little distance away. Judging from his manner, he appeared annoyed. Shortly after I saw Mr. Grimwood thus, the Chief Commissioner sent for me and told me that the Senapati would be arrested at the Darbar next day, and that after his arrest it would be my duty to at once proceed with him that same afternoon from Manipur to Sengmai. From this I conclude that it had been settled at the Council I have above referred to that the Senapati should be arrested in Darbar the next day. I may here mention that this was the first mention I had heard of the plan.

Tenth.—On Gurdon's return from Manipur, Quinton sent his telegram of 18th March to Cunningham. This telegram was the only reply received to enquiry mentioned in section 7 above, except demi-official letter of 22nd February mentioned in section eight. In that letter Quinton expressed intention of consulting with General Collett before submitting his recommendations officially.

Eleventh.—We did not know, and we had no reason to infer from Quinton's telegram of 18th March, that Quinton contemplated summoning a formal Darbar or public assembly for the purpose of arresting Senapati. The words "Regent and the Darbar" in that telegram mean Regent and Court or entourage. The word Darbar is habitually used in this sense.

Twelfth.—The decision to arrest in Darbar or public assembly was apparently arrived at on 21st March in conference at Sengmai between Quinton, Skene, Cossins, and Grimwood. Gurdon, who was in Quinton's confidence, informs us, in report cited in section 9 above that after this conference Quinton told him the Senapati would be arrested at Darbar next day. Gurdon adds:—Begins: "This was the first mention I had heard of the plan."—Ends. Until Gurdon's telegram of 7th May reached us, we did not know precisely what Quinton had intended.

Thirteenth.—Grimwood was opposed to removal of Senapati, and doubtless also to his arrest.

Fourteenth.—As to merits of Quinton's proposed action, there was certainly nothing unusual in announcing our orders in formal Darbar, including the order for removal of Senapati. Under ordinary circumstances this would have been the natural and proper course. No question as to exact time and method of arrest would have arisen, because ordinarily there would have been no thought of resistance, and any person to be deported would have considered himself at Quinton's disposal from the time that orders of Government were announced.

Fifteenth.—The anticipation of possible resistance to such orders is so rare that comparatively few instances of formal arrest in Darbar are on record; but the following cases may be cited: Sandeman lately arrested in open Darbar the Naib of Kej, who had attended at his summons. In 1879 General Roberts made formal entry into Bala Hissar, and read out proclamation to assemble notables. After doing so, he informed principal Ministers, whom he suspected of using their influence against us, that it was necessary to detain them. In these cases idea of treachery never occurred to anyone concerned.

27. Extract paragraph 1 from a letter from KULA DHUJA SINGH, Regent of Manipur, to His Excellency the Viceroy, dated the 25th March, 1891.

At the time having shaken hands with me, he informed me that on that very day at 12 A.M. he would hold a Darbar in the Residency, and that the Governor-General had sent certain intimation which will be communicated to me at the Darbar, and that I should attend it at 12 with my brothers.

Sixteenth.—It cannot be too clearly understood that the proposed Darbar at Manipur was not a conference between equals, or anything of the nature of a hospitable reception. It was an assemblage summoned by the Representative of the Paramount Power to declare the orders of the British Government in a case of disputed succession, upon which both ex-Maharaja and Regent had addressed us, and upon which, in accordance with custom, we were entitled to decide, and they were bound to accept our decision. Quinton in telegram of 18th March says:—"I propose requiring Regent and the Darbar to meet me," and Regent's letter 25th March, first paragraph, shows Regent understood that he was required to attend with his brothers to hear what our decision was. There was nothing of the nature of allurement. The Senapati, like the Regent, was bound to attend and accept our orders. The Regent was to be recognised as Maharaja and the Senapati was to be banished. In the meantime Quinton was right in treating both with ordinary politeness. Though Senapati was to be banished, the immediate cause of his banishment was political rather than criminal misconduct.

Seventeenth.—To say that Quinton was bound to give Senapati previous warning of the orders of Government, and of the fact that he would be forcibly arrested unless he submitted to them, is in effect to say that because Senapati was known to be a man of violent character and likely to give trouble, it was therefore Quinton's duty to show him special consideration, and give him special opportunity of preparing for mischief. The necessity for forcible arrest could not arise unless Senapati refused to accept our orders. It could only, therefore, be the result of his own misconduct and revolt against our paramount authority, which authority he himself subsequently acknowledged in letter referred to above, section 2.

Eighteenth.—We do not know Quinton's motive for arrest in Darbar. He probably desired to announce and carry out our orders in most formal and open manner. Statement that Darbar was delayed in order to give time for translation of Quinton's speech supports this view. Arrest of Senapati could apparently have been effected with less difficulty by summoning him to private interview; but Quinton probably thought this would not have been as suitable to the occasion. In any case there was nothing of the nature of treachery involved.

Nineteenth.—If Quinton had been willing to stoop to treachery, there would have been no difficulty in the matter. He could certainly and easily have allayed Senapati's suspicions by friendly assurances, and have seized him on occasion of friendly visit.

Twentieth.—Suspicion of treachery, which arises primarily from misapprehension of nature of proposed Darbar, may perhaps be secondarily due to special circumstances for which Quinton was not responsible; for example, Grimwood and Simpson's shooting expedition with

28. Extract from a letter from W. J. CONINGHAM, Esq.,
*Officiating Secretary to the Government of India,
 Foreign Department, to the Chief Commissioner of Assam,—No. 360-B., dated the 21st February, 1891.*

In the opinion of the Government of India, it is advisable that you should visit Manipur and make known on the spot the decision which the Governor-General in Council desires you to enforce. You should take with you a sufficient force even though opposition may not be expected, and you should report, for the orders of the Government of India, the conditions which you propose to attach to the recognition as Maharaja of Manipur of the present Jubraj.

29. Extract from a letter from BRIGADIER-GENERAL COLLETT,
C.B., to the Adjutant-General in India,—No. 3-M., dated the 31st March, 1891.

The universal opinion in this province was that the Chief Commissioner had an escort of overpowering strength, and no one dreamed of the terrible disaster which has occurred. It seems that an escort of 400 Gurkhas added to the permanent garrison of 100 Gurkhas, and supported by 200 Gurkhas en route from Silchar, would be ample to overawe malcontents. Colonel Skene, an experienced officer, who has spent his life in Assam, and has seen much service, never gave me a hint that he considered the escort too weak for the work the Chief Commissioner had in hand, and he knew what this was, for I had myself written confidentially to him explaining the mission on which Mr. Quinton was going.

Senapati after orders of Government had been communicated to Grimwood.

Twenty-first.—As to military questions involved, we would rather not offer any opinion until the receipt of the proceedings of the Court of Enquiry held at Manipur, which were posted there on the 31st May and are due here on the 14th instant. We can only say that both by letter and in personal communication with Quinton we instructed him to take care that he had a sufficient force. From the papers that have come before us, it is evident that Quinton and the responsible military authorities in Assam considered the escort ample to overcome any resistance that could reasonably be expected.

Twenty-second.—To sum up. It was our duty to settle disputed succession in Manipur. We accepted opinion of local authorities, and decided in favour of acknowledging Jubraj instead of restoring Maharaja; but we stipulated that Senapati, who had led revolt against Maharaja, and was a man of turbulent and infamous character, must leave the State. We did not prescribe method of his deportation, and we did not know Quinton intended to arrest him in Darbar; but we consider that Darbar was suitable place for announcement of our orders, including order for banishment of Senapati, and we see no treachery whatever in Quinton's intention to arrest Senapati there and then if he declined to submit to those orders which as subject of a subordinate Native State he was bound to obey. As to question of escort, we desired Quinton to take sufficient force, and he took the full force which was considered necessary by him and the local military authorities.

(SECRET.)

INDIA OFFICE;

London, 24th July, 1891.

To His Excellency the Most Honourable the Governor-General of India in Council.

MY LORD MARQUIS,—The letter of Your Lordship's Government, No. 36 (Secret), dated Approval by Her Majesty's Government of the policy of the Government of India in regard to Manipur.

4th March last, has received my careful consideration, and has been the subject of discussion in both Houses of Parliament. I am now in a position to express an opinion on the policy adopted by your Government in regard to the revolution which led to the expulsion and abdication of the Maharaja Sur Chandra Singh of Manipur, and on the measures which you ordered to be adopted in consequence of those events.

2. I propose in the present Despatch to deal with this part of the correspondence only; for while the papers before me are adequate in regard to the policy adopted by your Government and to the instructions which you issued, the case is otherwise in regard to the action taken by the local authorities in giving effect to your instructions. Until I shall have received the proceedings of the Committee of Inquiry which you have constituted at Manipur and your orders on those proceedings, I am not in a position to comment on the later phases of the question and their results.

3. It is needless to recapitulate at any length the events of the 22nd and 23rd September last. It is sufficient to say that the Maharaja fled from the palace owing to a rising of two of his younger brothers; that the Senapati seized the palace and magazine and placed them in a condition of defence against recapture by the Maharaja, who, finding himself unequal to a contest with his younger brother, determined, in opposition to the advice of the Political Agent, Mr. Grimwood, and his own Ministers, to abdicate and proceed to a place of pilgrimage.

4. On this the Jubraj, or heir apparent, who had been absent during the revolution, returned to Manipur and assumed the Raj. The Maharaja, however, changed his mind on reaching British territory, and telegraphed to the Chief Commissioner of Assam that he proposed to forward a memorial, and asked for assistance to reoccupy Manipur. Mr. Quinton, who had already informed you by telegraph of the circumstances, and of his having acknowledged the Jubraj as Regent, but only pending your orders, requested you on 9th October to defer passing any orders in regard to the succession of the Jubraj till the Maharaja's representation should be received.

5. This representation was not forwarded to Mr. Quinton till the middle of November, and it was not laid before you, with the comments of the Political Agent and the Chief Commissioner, till the following January. This delay, for which your Government was not responsible, is none the less to be regretted, as the consequence of it, and of the time occupied by subsequent discussions with the Chief Commissioner, was to allow a state of things which had been accepted only provisionally to endure for a period of six months.

6. Mr. Quinton's report of 31st December was addressed mainly to the question of the Maharaja's claim to restoration; and he, following the opinion of Mr. Grimwood, recommended that the Maharaja should not be restored, but that the Jubraj should be accepted by Government as his successor. He recognized that the attack on the palace was apparently unjustifiable, but otherwise made no remarks on the conduct of the Senapati or other leaders of the rebellion.

7. In your letter of 24th January to the Chief Commissioner of Assam, you recapitulated the facts of the case, and, after commenting on certain deficiencies in the steps taken by Mr. Grimwood for dealing with the crisis, you pointed out that the rebellion owed its success to the action of the Senapati, whose violent conduct had previously incurred your displeasure; and that, if the British Government should acquiesce in the present state of affairs and recognize the Jubraj as ruler of Manipur, the Senapati would wield the real power of the State. You explained that the Government of India had now a very close interest in maintaining tranquillity in Manipur, and could not tolerate disorder there, and you inclined at that time to the opinion that if the Maharaja was likely to receive a reasonable amount of support from the people of Manipur, he should be reinstated, and that in any case the Senapati should be removed. But before acting on these views you asked the Chief Commissioner for an early expression of his own opinion on the proposed course.

8. Mr. Quinton expressed his opinion on the 9th February that the Maharaja should not on account of his weakness and inability to rule be restored, but that the Jubraj should be recognized as ruler, and that the Senapati might at the same time after due inquiry be adequately punished. After further conferring personally with Your Excellency in Council, Mr. Quinton repeated these views in his letter of 19th February, and your final instructions to him were issued on the 21st February.

9. You then repeated your opinion that, "while the Senapati remains in Manipur unpunished for his treachery against his eldest brother, the Maharaja, the real power in the State will be in the Senapati's hands," and that it would not be to the credit of the British power any more than to the interests of the people of Manipur itself that the Government of India should acquiesce in such a settlement of the case. You accepted Mr. Quinton's opinion that, in view of the Maharaja's character, it would be to the advantage of Manipur and to the furtherance of British interests to recognize the Jubraj rather than to restore the Maharaja, and you adhered to your decision that the Senapati should be removed from Manipur on account of his lawless conduct. You asked where he should be interned, and what steps were considered necessary for removing him without affording him the opportunity of making any forcible opposition; and, finally, you directed the Chief Commissioner to visit Manipur, and to make known on the spot the decision of the Government of India, taking with him a sufficient force, even though opposition might not be expected.

10. It only remains to add that Mr. Quinton decided, in communication with the Officer Commanding the North-East Frontier District, to take an escort of 400 men from Golaghat, to be further strengthened by the addition of 200 men from Cachar; and that on the 18th March he telegraphed proposing to require the Regent and the Durbar to meet him on arrival, to announce the decision of Government, to arrest the Senapati, and bring him away with him on the 25th March. These proposals you approved, having already communicated to the ex-Maharaja your decision to acknowledge the Jubraj as Maharaja, and to punish the persons directly responsible for the insurrection.

11. Of the right of the Government of India to interfere after the forcible dispossession of the Maharaja there can be no question. It is admittedly the right and duty of the Government to settle successions in the protected States of India generally, and this is in a very marked way the case in regard to Manipur, which indeed owes its existence to our intervention. In 1851 the Government of India gave a somewhat special undertaking "to uphold the present Rajah, and to punish any parties attempting to dispossess him," and both before and since that period, and even during the reign of Maharaja Sur Chandra Singh, the history of Manipur is replete with instances of your Government having interfered forcibly to suppress attempts at usurpation, and of your having interned rebellious princes in British India at a safe distance from Manipur.

12. Your Government would undoubtedly have been justified in restoring the Maharaja by force in September, when the revolution took place, and had he not fled precipitately this course would probably have been adopted; nor, in my opinion, would either the delay that occurred or the fact that the local officers were content to accept the results of the revolution without comment have justified you in abstaining from considering the ex-Maharaja's application when it came before you, and vindicating the right of the Paramount Power to decide the question of succession on its merits. Your interference was necessary, not only in the interest of the Manipur State, where the character of the Senapati and the traditions of the succession indicated the probability of this attempt, if allowed to go unpunished, being frequently repeated; it was necessary also in the interests of the British Government, which has of late years been brought into much closer relations with the State and its subject tribes than was formerly the case, and cannot safely tolerate disorders therein; but, above all, it was necessary in the interests of the other protected States of India, for every Chief would have felt that the stability of his power was compromised had you passed over without notice an unprovoked and successful rebellion proceeding only from family quarrels.

13. I am satisfied, therefore, that your Government were right in deciding to interfere. I am equally satisfied that no interference which left the successful head of the rebellion—a man notorious for his turbulent and violent character—in possession of the real power of the State would have been adequate, and that your decision to remove the Senapati from Manipur and intern him in India was sound and politic.

14. The question whether the ex-Maharaja should be restored, or whether the Jubraj should be acknowledged as Maharaja, was by no means so clear as that of the Senapati's removal. Your Government were at first inclined to restore him, and only yielded to the strong remonstrances which the Chief Commissioner urged against that course. I have very carefully considered the subject in the light of the objections urged by Mr. Quinton to the restoration of the expelled Maharaja, and am of opinion that your Government was justified in yielding to those objections. The obligations imposed on you by the declaration of the Government of India in 1851, though not limited to Maharaja Kirti Chandra, were necessarily dependent on the Maharaja's capacity to govern, and on his willingness to abide by our advice. In this case the Maharaja's abandonment of his throne and territory (for I am satisfied that his abdication was deliberate and complete), and his unreadiness to follow the advice of your Government, absolved you from looking to any other considerations than those demanded by the interests of peace and good government, while the representations of the local authorities, as well as the Maharaja's previous history, indicated that these interests would in all probability be better served by the acknowledgment as Maharaja of the heir apparent than by the forcible restoration of one who had shown himself incapable of properly exercising the authority conferred upon him.

15. The decision to accept the Jubraj as Maharaja if Sur Chandra Singh was not to be restored followed as a matter of course. He had not taken part in the insurrection; he was the heir apparent; he was supposed to be capable; he had shown himself amenable to advice, and there was practically no other competitor.

16. So far then as the policy of your Government is concerned, I am glad that Her Majesty's Government have been able to afford it their full support. It was honourable; it asserted the rights of the Government of India, and it was calculated to give assurance to feudatory Chiefs. Nor do I doubt that you were right in leaving to the discretion of the Chief Commissioner the details of the method of enforcing your decision.

17. One question remains, which I think may be better dealt with in considering the orders of your Government than in considering the action of your subordinates. I refer to Mr. Quinton's intention for causing the Senapati, should he not surrender, to be arrested in Durbar. I have considered this subject very carefully in the light of your telegram of 11th May last, in which you explained that you had no specific information on this point until the receipt of Mr. Gurdon's telegram of 7th May, and I am satisfied that in giving your sanction to the proposals formulated in Mr. Quinton's telegram of 18th March, you had no reason to contemplate, and in fact did not contemplate, this action. I fully concur with you that nothing like treachery can be imputed to Mr. Quinton in this matter, but care should be taken that persons summoned to attend Darbars, which are almost universally understood to be held for ceremonial purposes, should not be subjected therein to measures of personal restraint.

I have, &c.,

CROSS.

H. M. DURAND,

Secretary to the Government of India.
